

DECLARE GERMANY IS IN DEFAULT OF ALL REPARATIONS

Inter-allied Commission To Notify Allies So They May Take Action.

FRESH DISORDERS IN OCCUPIED ZONE

French Cavalry Troops Are Stoned And Several People Hurt.

Paris, Jan. 26.—The inter-allied reparations commission today proclaimed Germany voluntary in general default of all reparations payments and deliveries. Motion to declare Germany in default was made by Louis Barthou of France, chairman of the commission. Great Britain did not vote.

Germany had appealed for an indemnity moratorium but the reparations commission rejected the request.

The commission decided to establish the May, 1921, schedule of payments.

France, Belgium and Italy were in accord upon all issues while the British held aloof and refused to participate in any of the voting.

The reparations commission decided to notify the allies by letter of Germany's default so that they could take any action they saw fit.

Today's Rhineland developments. Fresh disorders in which French cavalry were stoned and several persons were reported injured broke out in Dusseldorf today. General headquarters of the French in the Ruhr and Westphalian industrial zones are at Dusseldorf.

French foreign office officials in Paris denied that the Dusseldorf and Essen riots were serious. They attributed them to demonstrations by rowdy students.

The French have started to take over the Rhineland and Ruhr railroads for exclusive military uses.

A heavy cordon of French and Belgian troops is placed along the eastern boundary of the occupied areas, supported with six-inch guns, field artillery, machine guns and tanks.

British cabinet considered the Rhineland situation and is understood to have decided to maintain a policy of neutrality and watchful waiting for an indefinite period. For the time being the British army of occupation will remain upon the Rhine.

British Laborite members of parliament will meet at London on Monday to adopt resolutions of assistance for German workers in the occupied areas of the Rhineland.

PREFER JAIL TERM TO PAYING FINES

Youngstown Chiropractors Pledged To Serve If Found Guilty.

Youngstown, Jan. 26.—Youngstown chiropractors under arrest on charges filed by the state medical board will go to jail if found guilty. Ten of 17 under arrest here have pledged themselves to serve time rather than pay fines.

"The only thing the court can do is impose a fine of $500 on each and every chiropractor," said a prominent practitioner today. "If we pay the fine and continue business we are subject to arrest again. We cannot do what the state medical board asks of us—arrest to our national administration to have at this crucial time a popular clamor inspired by well intentioned, though obviously ill-advised persons, proposing to force our president to adopt a prematurely conceived and hasty foreign policy."

"No, we don't elect to go on a hunger strike but we certainly will let every one know where we are and why we are being persecuted."

ARRANGES TO PAY FINE, IS RELEASED

George Ferman, West Salem Heights, has been released from the city jail after arranging to pay the fine of $600 handed out by Mayor John W. Post Monday when he pleaded guilty to charges of manufacturing and possessing liquor illegally.

Ferman was arrested at his home Sunday night by a squad of officers headed by Chief T. W. Thompson. A small still and quantity of whisky were found in the home when the raiders visited there.

WANTS WORLD PEACE PARLEY TO PREVENT ANOTHER GREAT WAR

Washington, Jan. 26.—A world peace conference to prevent another European war was proposed in a resolution introduced in the house this afternoon by Rep. Chalmers, Republican of Ohio.

President Harding would be authorized under the resolution to name a joint congressional commission to confer with European powers in an effort to head off hostilities.

"If there is another world war no power on earth can keep this country safe," declared Chalmers.

Dr. Grant Faces Heresy Trial

Couple Celebrating 60th Milestone In Their Wedded Life

Mr. and Mrs. William Woodward, Sr., Leetonia, aged 77 and 81 years respectively, celebrated the 60th anniversary of their wedding Friday at their home with a family gathering. Among the guests were their daughter, Mrs. Lizzie Yates, Salem, and their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. George Woodward, Newark, N. J.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodward have resided in Leetonia for many years. In their 60 years of married life there have been only two deaths in the family, a daughter, who died in infancy, and a grandson, who died last summer. They have nine children, John, George, Richard, William Jr., Thomas, Kolland, Alfred, Edward and Mrs. Lizzie Yates. Several of them were not able to get home for the celebration.

MORE GOSPEL LESS LAW TO STOP DIVORCE

Can't Stop Hasty Marriages By Legislation Says Congress Woman.

Washington, Jan. 26.—"More gospel and less law."

This was the rule Miss Alice Robertson, congresswoman from Oklahoma, offered today for ridding of the "divorce evil."

"You can't stop hasty and foolish marriages or prevent divorce by legislation," she declared in voicing strenuous opposition to the Capper bill for a new federal marriage and divorce law. "That measure is un-American," she added.

Furthermore Miss Robertson does not believe any change can be brought about in marriage customs with one fell stroke, until our young people have a full and comprehensive realization of what marriage means." This, she said, can be accomplished only by proper and adequate home training and by "keeping boys and girls more under the guide and influence of parents."

"Teach our boys and girls the functions of love as set forth in the Bible and we'll have less of these hasty, ill-conceived marriages, with subsequent divorces."

Much of the blame for the present tendency toward youthful marriages, Miss Robertson placed upon mothers of the country.

"Girls, and to a lesser degree boys, are not given proper home discipline," she said. "There is too much flippancy, and not enough of the serious mother-daughter relationships of a few years ago. Many girls are not under the guide and counsel of their mothers as they should be."

"I'm through," the mayor declared.

Thompson, a Republican, has been a power in normally Democratic Chicago since the day he first stepped into the political limelight. He was elected the first time by the staggering majority of 147,477 votes and since then has engaged in a career that has been one of the most turbulent and dramatic in the history of American municipal politics.

Mayor Thompson announced his decision to retire from the mayoralty contest in a statement to the public.

Friends of the mayor said he is planning to make a cruise around the world.

It was intimated in political circles that Thompson may "come back" in 1924 and make the race for United States senator from Illinois against Medill McCormick, the incumbent.

Thompson attracted national attention during the war through the Joffre-Viviani incident and through an interview in which Thompson was quoted as saying Chicago was "the sixth German city in the world."

Thompson always has insisted this statement was garbled. Thompson declined to issue an invitation to Joffre and Viviani of France to visit Chicago when it was suggested to him.

For both of these incidents Thompson was bitterly attacked by the American press.

As for the remaining $30,000 that will be needed to keep the schools open until the end of the term, there is before the legislature at present a bill appropriating money for weak school districts such as East Liverpool.

Because of the state-aid which will be extended, there will be no need of a law authorizing boards of education in times of crisis to levy a special tax to cover immediate needs.

Such a law members of the committee were prepared to propose when they went to Columbus. They expressed themselves as pleased that an easier way out had been found.

Members of the committee brought back with them assurance from Vernon M. Riegel, state director of education, that $30,000 will be available almost immediately. Twenty-five per cent of this amount, or $7,500, will be forwarded here within a week and the balance a short time later.

Assurance that state aid will be given means that the city-wide fund raising campaign, preliminary plans for which had been made, will be abandoned.

Cure For External Cancer Is Claim Of Salem Woman

Mrs. Andrew Zeppernick Perfects Formula, Hoping To Aid Sufferers Throughout The World—Would Enlist Aid Of Medical Profession In Her Work.

A positive cure for cancer.

This subject has been close to the hearts of the medical profession who seem to have a decided effect in arresting cancerous growths.

Its possibilities have led to numerous experiments and exhaustive research work by the medical profession. Medicines and surgery and bone family who used it successfully in the treatment of external cancers.

Improves Formula

Coming in contact with this form of treatment, Mrs. Zeppernick became greatly interested in its possibilities through the fact that several members of her immediate family were suffering with cancers and were being helped by the method of treatment.

A cure for external cancers, of the body surface, is the result of Layman's experimental work, according to Mrs. Andrew Zeppernick of Newgarden rd, who claims to have a cure for the dread malady.

Points to Cures Here

As proof of her assertions Mrs. Zeppernick points to numerous persons in this district, all of whom she says have been cured by her treatments.

Reputable physicians have pronounced these persons cured after having observed their conditions before and after taking the treatments used by Mrs. Zeppernick, it is claimed.

With the acquisition of the practice came the decision by Mrs. Zeppernick that the formula should be perfected and given to the world if it proved of any value. With this in mind Mrs. Zeppernick has made numerous changes in the original method of treatment and has what she feels now is a positive cure for any external cancerous growth.

Since taking over the practice Mrs. Zeppernick has been visited by patients from practically every section of the United States, one visitor coming here from California and another from Boston, both of whom

FARMERS POORLY ORGANIZED KNIRK TELLS BREEDERS

Citizens Abandon Campaign Plans When Assurance Of Aid Is Given.

BONNELL PLEADS FOR JERSEY CLUB

Co-operative Company Head Speaks At Banquet Of Jersey Men.

"The farmers of today are the most poorly organized bunch of men in the United States," declared Karl Knirk of Cleveland, general manager of the Farmers Co-operative company, before members of the Columbian County Jersey Breeders association Thursday evening, at their annual meeting in the Chamber of Commerce rooms.

"The farmers and breeders should know by this time the value of cooperation in working together, but I have found that they have tendencies to pull away from each other instead of boasting together," Mr. Knirk continued.

The speaker chose as his subject "Co-operation" and during the course of his address told of the success of the Farmers Co-operative company of Cuyahoga county where through the co-operation of the company the farmer's share of every dollar paid by the consumer had been raised from 42 to 52 cents within one year's time.

More than 90 guests attended the affair which followed an elaborate banquet served by the women of the First Christian church of Salem.

Patton Is Toastmaster

A. U. Patton, president of the organization was toastmaster and called on the following speakers, R. B. Thompson, Salem; Hugh Bonnell of the Mahoning county Jersey association, and H. E. Bourne of Brecksville, president of the Farmers' Co-operative company.

The importance of every member of the county organization being also a member of the Ohio Jersey club, was stressed by Mr. Bonnell, and at the conclusion of his talk the assembly voted to pay 20 per cent of its gross receipts to the Ohio Jersey club, which would make each member of the county association a member of the state club.

The wonderful value of the Jersey formed the subject of a talk by Mr. Bourne, who also told of the good results secured for breeders through the farm bureau organizations throughout the state.

Seventeen guests from Mahoning county represented the prominent breeders of that county at the meeting.

An informal hour of discussion followed the program of the evening. A. U. Patton is president of the county association and John Binns, secretary. The organization includes practically every breeder of Jersey cows in Columbian county.

HARR CASE TAKEN TO SUPREME COURT

Case Against Clothing Co. Brought By Former Salem Man.

Motion for an order directing the Columbian county appellate court to certify its record in the case of A. J. Harr et al vs Samuel Wilkoff et al was filed Thursday by Atty. K. L. Cobourn, in the state supreme court.

The case is one brought by A. J. Harr, formerly of Salem and the Globe Indemnity company, against Samuel Wilkoff and L. Kaplan president and vice president respectively of the Federal Clothing Co., of Youngstown, who took possession of the property of the company through a chattel mortgage in their favor.

The case was taken to the common pleas court where the claim of the defendants was upheld and the court of appeals later affirmed the decision of the lower court. It has now been taken to the supreme court for decision. The law firm of Metzger & McCarthy is representing Wilkoff and Kaplan.

Hoover Saw Yankees Raise Old Glory Over Coblenz

The lowering of the Stars and Stripes from above the mountain fortress of Ehrenbreitstein, Germany, Wednesday when the Yankee army of occupation started its journey homeward, has recalled to the minds of several Salem persons that this city was represented when the American flag was raised for the first time to float over German soil.

Orville Hoover, teller in the Farmers National bank, was one of the few Yank soldiers to be on hand when the Stars and Stripes were raised to the top of the flagpole above the city of Coblenz, at that time American headquarters on the Rhine.

Hoover was attached to the headquarters company of the Third Corps the Yankees.

How To Make Citizens

PRESIDENT LOWELL of Harvard believes the college can make citizens, but declares that the primary object of these institutions should not be to fit men to earn a living. He deplores the rapid increase of Harvard men going into business at the expense of the ministry, of medicine and chiefly of law and education.

Cultural pursuits are essential to the proper development of worthwhile civilization. But to the majority of young men who go to college making a living is a matter of practical necessity. That many of them devote themselves intensively to utilitarian preparation for their approaching careers should be regarded as health condition, we think, even though they must, in some degree, sacrifice the allurements and refinements which result as the development of those qualities that lead "to the better life both for themselves and the community."

However, it may be conceded that the primary object of the college should be "something larger than a preparation for earning a living," provided that the requirements of cultural development do not stand in the way of that utilitarian development which now, as ever, keeps the wheels of the world going round.

That too few young men enter the ministry may be a regrettable fact, but, if it be a fact, the reasons, perhaps, are not obscure reasons. If the ministry is deserted for business, or the law, or education, or medicine, does it necessarily follow that the men who choose business must be lacking in "the greater purpose of enlarging and deepening thought?" We do not think so.

The man who has taken full advantage of his college opportunities, at Harvard or elsewhere, should carry into business the aspirations and impulses which make for enlarged and deepened thought.

President Lowell well might be inclined to be content could he be convinced of what indubitably is the fact, that the avenues of business are filled with practical men who continuously are exemplifying and exhibiting cultural objects and parasitism. There are business men who know more of Shakespeare and his art than some experts who have devoted years of research to their work. There are business men who know law, religion and philosophy, art and letters as few "professionals" know them. That they have glorified the art of earning a living has contributed, and will continue to contribute, to the enlargement and deepening of thought. Hence the best citizen must be the man of widest attainments. And the man who has taken fullest advantage of his college opportunities should represent the highest type of citizenship. And he does just that.

G.O.P. MEMBERS TO ADJUST TROUBLES

WILL MEET SOON TO PREPARE FOR ORGANIZATION OF THE NEW CONGRESS

WILL HAVE SMALL MAJORITY

Wise Leadership Will Be Necessary to Keep Party in Line for Desired Legislation—Progressives Cut More Figure.

By EDWARD B. CLARK

Washington.—The Republicans in the lower house of congress realize that with the greatly reduced majority by which they will control there may be trouble in effecting the majority organization. Therefore the Republican leaders have determined to call a meeting of all the Republican members elected to the next congress and to make full organization arrangements before the present congress dies.

A part of the Republican majority in the present house has declined at times to follow the majority leadership. Sharp trouble has been avoided on several occasions by means of compromises, but in the main the majority has had its way because the Republican membership has been so great that the party will generally could be enforced.

In the next house things are likely to be different. The Republican majority has been cut down to a scant score of votes. Judicious leadership will be necessary to keep the party in line for administration measures and for such other measures as the Republican leadership believes should be given consideration. The party leaders realize that many of the new members of congress are men whose views are not entirely those of the still dominant faction in the party, the conservatives and the semi-conservatives. The fact that the new thought in Republicanism will be more largely represented in the next house is giving the leaders some concern, but they seemingly expect to be able to frame a program which will satisfy all the party elements.

Only Thirty New G. O. P. Men.

The Democrats made great inroads in the house membership at the last election. On the Republican side there will be only about 30 new members, men who never have served in congress. The rest of the Republican membership will be made up of those who secured re-election in November.

So it is that when the Republican members of the new congress assemble in Washington some time next month for the purpose of conferences and program fixing, there will be present only about 30 men who are not entirely familiar with previous methods of procedure.

The so-called progressive element in the Republican party in the house knows definitely just what it would like to have done in the way of reorganization for party work. These men, being already on the spot and holding full knowledge of the present and past procedure, probably will frame in their own behalf some kind of a program to which they will ask the newly elected ones of their own factional faith to give their adherence.

Already it is said the conservatives and the non-conservatives have been conferring together for the purpose of fixing on a program which will be acceptable to the entire Republican membership in the next house. The Republican leadership almost unquestionably will continue in conservative, or at least semi-conservative, hands. Representative Mondell of Wyoming, the present floor leader, will not be a member of the next house. There are two outstanding candidates for the succession to floor leadership, Nicholas Longworth of Ohio and William J. Graham of Illinois. It is yet a little early to predict which one will be successful in the party caucuses.

Apportioning the Committees.

Under the present rule of things in congress the memberships in the various committees are apportioned in party caucuses and not by the speaker of the house, as was the case once upon a time. This means that when the new Republican members arrive and enter into conference with the re-elected Republicans a committee membership program must be sanctioned. New members cannot hope for high committee preferment, but nearly every member who comes to Washington has his own private wish in the matter of a committee upon which he is to serve. The chances are that the wishes of the newcomers will be met as fully as possible.

There have been cases, however, where, with only one vacancy on a certain committee, there have been as many as six or eight applicants for the place. When this has happened the party caucuses, Democrat or Republican, has sometimes had considerable trouble in ironing out differences and in soothing the injured feelings of the new members who did not get what they wanted. The Republicans are accounted as wise because they are determined to get as many of their troubles as possible straightened out before the next congress comes into being.

FORMER TEACHER HEADS HOSPITAL

Fred M. Walker, teller at the People's Banking company, Alliance, has been appointed business manager of the Alliance City hospital.

The appointment was made by Safety Director F. S. Shaw. Mr. Walker will assume his duties as hospital head Feb. 1. He will succeed Mrs. Charlotte A. Frye who resigned her post Dec. 31. Director Shaw has been in charge of the hospital since the departure of Mrs. Frye.

Walker was born and reared at Damascus. For two years after his graduation from Damascus High school in 1912 he was bookkeeper and teller with the Citizens' Banking company of Sebring. He has also taught a short time in the Salem and Alliance High schools, filling vacancies caused by illness.

In 1920 Walker was graduated from Mt. Union college. He was scheduled to complete the work at the college with the class of 1918 but his collegiate career was interrupted by two years in the service. Walker was in charge of one of the principal offices at Walter Reed Memorial hospital at Washington, D. C. He holds a Lieutenant's commission serving under Lieut. Col. C. A. A Prescription for High Blood Pressure

Used by Buffalo Physician for Many Years With Great Success

Since the beginning of the year druggists of the better class have been selling a vegetable preparation called NOKMA, a very successful remedy for reducing high blood pressure to normal.

People who have no appetite, are moody and nervous, who have headache, hot flashes and dizzy spells probably have high blood pressure and don't realize it.

Norma is not a cure-all but it does reduce high blood pressure and for that purpose is used by many women at the changing time of life.

Bennett's drug store or any high class druggist will supply you with

STOCKS

MARKET OPENS STRONG

New York, Jan. 26.—The stock market opened strong today. There were heavy dealing in Consolidated Gas (new), which opened at 68%, and declined to 67%. The greatest gain was made in Fisher Body, which at the first price showed a gain of nine points, selling at 182.

The oil stocks also were strong, California Petroleum advancing to 77%, a gain of one point, while Pan American A. and B. showed fraction advances.

There were no important changes in the motor stocks. General Motors rose 3% at 44%.

There was some irregularity in the railroad groups.

GREAT WRITERS' YOUNG DAYS

Tales Told of Two Authors Who Have Risen to Eminence in Literary World.

Mr. Rudyard Kipling was in the habit of selling his old schoolbooks to a dame who kept a curiosity shop at Blidford. In recent years many people have visited the shop, hoping to pick up a volume with an early composition of the great man scrawled in the margin. They have been disgusted to hear that the old dame rubbed out everything of the kind.

"No," she said, on one occasion, "Master Kipling was always fair to me, and he may have written things not so good as those he has sold since. I wasn't going to have them poking fun at him." Which shows the popularity Mr. Kipling enjoyed in his schooldays.

Another great writer, Sir James Barrie, has a good story to tell of his young days. It was at the time of his first success, and an old townswoman of Kirriemuir, Barrie's native place, was asked what she thought of it.

"Weel," she replied, cautiously, "it's a gude thing the liddle can mek something at his writin'; he could never have made a leevin' at th' mills!"

A Prescription for High Blood Pressure

Used by Buffalo Physician for Many Years With Great Success

Since the beginning of the year druggists of the better class have been selling a vegetable preparation called NORMA, a very successful remedy for reducing high blood pressure to normal.

People who have no appetite, are moody and nervous, who have headache, hot flashes and dizzy spells probably have high blood pressure and don't realize it.

Norma is not a cure-all, but it does reduce high blood pressure and for that purpose is used by many women at the changing time of life.

Bennett's drug store or any high class druggist will supply you with NORMA.

Mrs. Chappell Entertains
A pink and white motif made the table attractive at a 1 o'clock luncheon given by Mrs. George Chappell, Sr., Thursday at her home, McKinley ave, at which her club associates were, in which the favors were valentines. The guests were interested in fancywork and music and games entertained. Mrs. Wilbur Gamble, Petras is a Greek restaurant proprietor, and Doggett alleged that he refused to serve him in his restaurant when he entered and ordered ice cream, giving as his reason that he did not serve colored people. Doggett claimed that this was in violation of his rights as a free American citizen and asked damages. The jury found in favor of the defendant.

Negro Loses Lawsuit Against Restaurant
William H. Doggett, colored, of Wellsville, lost the $500 damage case which was concluded in common pleas court Thursday in which George Petras was the defendant. Petras is a Greek restaurant proprietor, and Doggett alleged that he refused to serve him in his restaurant when he entered and ordered ice cream, giving as his reason that he did not serve colored people. Doggett claimed that this was in violation of his rights as a free American citizen and asked damages. The jury found in favor of the defendant.

On display in our west window is a wall paper designed by Charles Burchfield, and made by The M. H. Birge & Sons Co.

The "motif" for the design was found in the woods near Millville, where the young artist discovers pictures sometimes. The pattern is known as "The Birchies," and is real art in wall paper.

In the east window is a picture of a village near Salem, sketched from a hill-top. If you recognize the spot, suppose you stop and tell us. It is a Burchfield, too.

STOCKS

MARKET OPENS STRONG

New York, Jan. 26.—The stock market opened strong today. There were heavy dealing in Consolidated Gas (new), which opened at 68½, and declined to 67½. The greatest gain was made in Fisher Body, which at the first price showing a gain of nine points, selling at 182.

The oil stocks also were strong. California Petroleum advancing to 77½, a gain of one point, while Pan American A. and B. showed fraction advances.

There were no important changes in the motor stocks. General Asphalt rose 7½ at 44½.

There was some irregularity in the railroad groups.

GREAT WRITERS' YOUNG DAYS

Tales Told of Two Authors Who Have Risen to Eminence in Literary World.

Mr. Rudyard Kipling was in the habit of selling his old schoolbooks to a dame who kept a curiosity shop at Blideford. In recent years many people have visited the shop, hoping to pick up a volume with an early composition of the great man scrawled in the margin. They have been disgusted to hear that the old dame rubbed out everything of the kind.

"No," she said, "on one occasion, Master Kipling was always fair to me, and he may have written things not so good as those he has sold since. I wasn't going to have them poking fun at him." Which shows the popularity Mr. Kipling enjoyed in his schooldays.

Another great writer, Sir James Barrie, has a good story to tell of his young days. It was at the time of his first success, and an old townswoman of Kirriemuir, Barrie's native place, was asked what she thought of it.

"Well," she replied, cautiously, "it's a gude thing the laddie can nek something at his writhin'; he could never have made a leevin' at th' mills!"

"THE FLIRT" STORY OF REAL LIFE

Like a moth irresistibly drawn to flaming candle, so were men drawn to Cora Madison; just a wee side glance from those coy eyes and the damage was done. Yet you couldn't blame Cora; it was as natural for her to flirt as it was to eat, but, like all her kind, there came a time when she had to pay the penalty for her indiscretions.

Booth Tarkington's story, "The Flirt," was one of the most widely read books in the country, and its entertainment value is greatly enhanced by its presentation in screen form. It was made into a magnificent film by the Universal Pictures corporation and will be seen at the royal theater Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

There are few persons who have not had a heart-breaking experience with a flirt, because the species comes in both male and female form, hence there are few that will fail to understand the psychology of Mr. Tarkington's story, and, if they are not in the midst of a similar experience, to thoroughly enjoy each minute of the performance.

Universal casting directors spent many weary weeks in conning lists of players in order that each character might be fittingly portrayed. The role of Cora Madison is portrayed by that popular star, Eileen Percy, with Helen Jerome Eddy as the plainer sister, who is the direct antithesis of "the flirt." George Nichols, whose excellent work in pictures has won him a widespread reputation, is seen as the father. Others in the all-star cast are Nell Craig, Harold Goodwin, Buddy Messinger, Tom Kennedy, Lydia Knott, Bert Roach, Edward Hearne, Dorothy Woibert, Lloyd Whitlock and William Welsh.

The production was directed by Hobart Henley, one of the most skillful craftsmen in pictures. New artistic heights in photography were reached in "The Flirt," and scenes of American life are said to make all those who watch the picture feel themselves a part of the story.

SMALL BEGINNINGS SHOW BIG RESULTS

Many great enterprises begin in a small way. Many a successful advertiser has begun by using classified advertisements in a modest way. These brought good returns, which enabled the business to be developed, and eventually large advertisements were profitably used. Intelligent use of the little ads in The Salem News either by advertiser or reader will prove

That prices in our line will advance soon.

We feel so well satisfied that this will be the case.

That we are protecting ourselves as far as possible.

And while we do not wish any one to buy ahead because of our feeling of assurance.

We are giving everybody the opportunity of contracting now.

At present prices for work or material to be delivered before March 15.

Such contracts to be guaranteed against advance or decline in price.

In other words you are protected in case the prices advance or in case they decline.

You'll admit we would hardly make this proposition if we felt there was any likelihood of a decline.

If you place your order with us we can protect ourselves and we are glad to pass this saving on to you.

And anyway when you have nothing to lose and may gain something isn't a good plan to let us take the chance?

We'll give you an estimate if you want it.

Yours truly,

P. S.—See those lamps in our window.

We want homes for every one of them.

Don't you want one? Come and see.

Yours truly,

WHERE ALL SPEED IS SAME

Fact in Nature That Would Seem to Suggest Common Source and Fountain Head.

That in the radium ray we have an indication of a new and mysterious world of energy, we find what seems an impressive testimony in the law of velocity governing these in common with other recently discovered phenomena. "One definite thing we do know," says Professor Soddy, writing of the ether, "namely, the velocity at which influences are transmitted. It is 185,000 miles per second, the speed of light. So far as we yet know, all influences that are transmitted by the ether travel at this one definite velocity. Not only light, but also the electro-magnetic radiations employed in wireless telegraphy, the magnetic storms, as they are termed, which reach us from the sun, and also as we believe the X-rays, travel through the ether at this one definite speed." That speed is in all these cases the same is suggestive of a common source and fountain head, and one is emboldened in the supposition that behind and within the material system with which we are familiar is a subtle and infinitely marvelous world from which the universe we know is fed and sustained, and which uses the light—swift undulations of the ether—as the carrying agent of its varied influences.

Protests Against Stiff Swollen Tortured Joints

Rheumatic or Otherwise

Says: "When Joint-Ease Gets in Joint Agony Gets Out."

It was a high-class pharmacist who saw prescription after prescription fail to help hundreds of his customers to get rid of rheumatic swellings and stiff inflamed joints.

And it was this same man who asserted that a remedy could and would be compounded that would make creaky, swollen tormented joints work with just as much smoothness as they ever did.

Now this prescription, rightly named Joint-Ease, after being tested successfully on many obstinate cases, is offered through progressive pharmacists to the millions of people who suffer from ailing joints that need limbering up.

Swollen twinge inflamed stiff pain-tormented joints are usually caused by rheumatism, but whatever the cause Joint-Ease soaks right in, through skin and flesh and gets right to and corrects the trouble at its source.

Remember Joint-Ease is for all joints of the joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, spine or finger, and when you rub it on, you may expect speedy and gratifying results.

It is now on sale by druggists everywhere for 50 cents a tube.

READ THE CLASSIFIED COLUMN

MANY BOARDS IN OUR GOVERNMENT

SUBDIVISIONS OF WHICH THE PEOPLE SELDOM HEAR ARE DEEMED NECESSARY.

LISTED AS "MISCELLANEOUS"

Councils, Bureaus and Commissions Are Numerous, but Each Has Its Important Duties and Presumably Performs Them Satisfactorily.

Washington.—Of the making of many commissions there is no end. The school books tell us that the United States government is divided into three departments, the executive, the legislative and the judicial. So it is. The United States government is also subdivided until the subdivisions are more plentiful than they are in a new town which seems to have prosperity ahead of it and where everybody is building lot crazy.

There is no intention at all to intimate that the various subdivisions of the government are not necessary institutions. They are, or in the wisdom of the executive and congress they never would have been established. No cognizance is taken here of the various subdivisions of the cabinet departments for necessarily for all time the bureaus of the great cabinet organizations have been in existence and have been doing their specific work.

There are any number of bureaus, commissions, offices and boards, the duties of some of which seemingly are unknown to the public at large. Certain it is that when men who have lived long in Washington occasionally hear of a government body they are puzzled to know what it is and their puzzle lasts until they turn to the official directory and find out all about it. In the official directory there is one heading in large letters: "Miscellaneous." Under this miscellaneous heading there is comprised a collection of agencies and of all kinds of government activities, and it may hurt nothing to look at some of them, even if the list is too long for purposes of a column story.

Some Smithsonian Activities.

The first government organization under the head of "Miscellaneous" is the Smithsonian institution. Everybody presumably knows much about this great scientific body of which Charles D. Walcott is the chief, but how many people know that this institution has all sorts of subdivisions, each one charged with a particular kind of what in the highest sense is educational endeavor. For instance, and only for instance, within the organization of the Smithsonian institution there is an "Astrophysical Observatory," a "Regional Bureau for the United States," "International Catalogue of Scientific Literature"—and also there are others.

The Pan-American Union comes under Miscellaneous, but the work of this organization is so well known that little need be said.

How many people know there is a United States Council of National Defense, which is a government institution and has nothing whatever to do with the Society of National Defense, which is purely a laymen's and non-official organization? This government council consists of the secretaries of war, navy, interior, agriculture, commerce and labor. It meets seldom, but it is supposed to meet once in a while to consider the general question of the national safety.

Let someone speak quickly to say if he has heard of the "National Screw Thread Commission." Well, there is such a commission and it was created by an act of congress and sanctioned July 18, 1918. It has nothing to do with the kind of thread with which your wife does or does not sew on buttons. It has to do apparently with the screw thread which is known to navy men and to engineers generally.

Other Little-Known Boards.

Does the country generally know that there is an officially constituted "National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics"? There is one and its duties are to conduct such studies and to recommend such experiments as shall keep this country abreast of the times in everything which pertains to aviation.

There is a "United States Interdepartmental Social Hygiene Board." The chairman is Surgeon General Merritt W. Ireland of the United States army. Its membership is made up of cabinet officers and of officers of the army and navy. It discusses health matters as they relate to the various services of the government and it is said, virtually unknown as the board is, that its work has been almost phenomenally efficient.

Here are a few other names of government boards or bureaus or commissions which claim such recognition as they can get under the general head of Miscellaneous: "Pecuniary Claims Arbitration Committee," "International Sanitary Bureau," "Federal Traffic Board," "Federal Power Commission," "United States Geographic Board"—well, the list might be extended indefinitely.

DYE SILK STOCKINGS BLOUSE OR SWEATER IN DIAMOND DYES

STOCK SHIPPERS TO MEET FEB. 17

"Diamond Dyes" add years of wear to worn, faded skirts, waists, coats, stockings, sweaters, coverings, hangings, draperies, everything. Every package contains directions so simple any woman can put new, rich, fadeless colors into her worn garments or draperies even if she has never dyed before. Just buy Diamond Dyes—no other kind—then your material will come out right, because Diamond Dyes are guaranteed not to streak, spot, fade, or run. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whether it is linen, cotton or mixed goods.

WRONG IDEAS ABOUT ALASKA

Winters There Are Mild, Thermometer in Region of Juneau Barely Reaching Zero.

I met a family in Juneau, Alaska, that had formerly resided in Cleveland. I asked the lady of the house if it wasn't somewhat difficult to stand the rigors of the northern climate, writes Sherman Rogers in the Outlook. She laughed outright.

"Well," she answered, "we endured Cleveland winters, and Juneau is certainly a paradise compared with Cleveland, either in winter or summer. We have been north eight years in all; spent five winters here, and three back home; the five years we have lived here during the winter months the thermometer has never reached zero. Do you imagine it takes a rigorous person to stand such a climate?"

This was followed by peals of laughter and further remarks about the silly ideas of people in the States regarding the climate of Alaska.

Southeastern Alaska has an Oregon-Washington climate, due to the Japanese current, which has the same effect from Ketchikan to Cape Spencer as it has on Puget sound, resulting in very mild winters and extremely delightful summers. Very seldom, in the last 20 years, has the thermometer reached zero in this entire section.

The interior of Alaska, made famous by exaggerating novelists, has a climate closely duplicating Minnesota in the winter, and Maine or Oregon in summer.

"THE FLIRT"

She was a liar (and beautiful).

She was a hypocrite (and kissable).

She was a tyrant (and adorable).

She was a cheat (and bewitching).

And No One Lifted a Hand Against Her—

WHY?

"The Flirt" is such a story as Booth Tarkington has always loved to write—full of dramatic situations, irresistible humor, and just enough pathos now and then to arouse the softer emotions. No one knows American life as Tarkington knows it, no one can depict it more graphically. I earnestly advise everybody in this city to see "The Flirt" with its remarkable cast and excellent production. You will remember it long after you have forgotten all other pictur-

ROSE CAPITULATED

By INA L. BURNELL

© 1928, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.

Women, like sentences, are of three kinds—simple, complex and compound. Of the simple type, with one subject, was Mrs. Warren. Her subject, cooking, stood alone without modifiers, as the one important duty of her life. Cooking, in itself, is an art and Mrs. Warren excelled in that art. There was nothing from soups to ice creams that she could not make. She took the home papers, just to read the housekeepers' sections.

Her vision was so narrowed by her own art, however, that she could not conceive of a "complex" woman as amounting to anything worth while. Of this complex type, so hard to analyze, was Mrs. Warren's daughter, Rose.

"She's such a scatterbrain," Mrs. Warren was wont to say. "Goodness only knows what will become of her. Her bread sours, her cakes won't rise even when I stand by and see that the risin' and settin' are added just right! Goodness only knows!" Whereupon the good lady would shake her head and beat up Rose's favorite sponge cake "extra special" for supper.

As for Rose, her accomplishments were varied. She was the most popular dressmaker in the town. She could equal any French maidselle when it came to millinery. She sang beautifully—professionally, in fact, at the church and at all public gatherings. Rose was manager of the girls' basketball team. Rose was president of the women's club. The town's baseball team could not play a good game if Rose wasn't there to cheer them on. If the team went out of town to play, Rose would always take a crowd of girls in her own car. She was lovable—everybody loved her, but she was heart-whole. None of the young men would consider making love to Rose. She was above them, as a queen is above her subjects, and yet she was one of them, more than any other girl in the town, and more than some of their own boys. In fact, as one of the boys expressed it, "Rose Warren is our 'chief push'!"

But Mother Warren continued to shake her head and sigh, "Whatever will become of you, goodness only knows! If you could only cook, I shouldn't be so worried!"

And Rose's eyes would twinkle, "I don't need to cook, mother, as long as you can cook so well."

There comes a crisis in the life of every young lady. Though she does not admit that it is a crisis, later on, as she looks back, she will cherish "that one day" or "that one letter," or "that one little incident."

Rose was no exception. The crisis in her life came unexpectedly, of course. In itself, it is hardly worth mentioning.

It was the Saturday afternoon of the big game between the Canton baseball team and their worst rivals. Everyone interested in baseball was present, including the new pastor, just arrived, who was to preach his first sermon the following Sunday.

It was the first of the ninth. The score was a tie, when the pitcher suddenly whirled to throw the ball to first base and in some unaccountable way turned his ankle and fell.

Time was called and confusion reigned. Rose, the ever-ready, was beside the fallen pitcher instantly. The boys lifted him into her auto and she whirled him to the village doctor.

"Game's lost now," muttered one of the boys, as they started back to their buses.

"Yup!" mourned another. "Might as well quit now. Gyp can't pitch, and he knows it."

"I'll pitch! Let me in!" came the excited voice of the enthusiastic young fellow on the side lines.

"Can you?" "Will you?" "Who's he?" was heard from all sides.

Not until he gave his name, however, did they recognize Rev. Horace Benton.

Rose drove back in time to see the finish of the game.

"Who's pitching?" inquired she, as her glance took in the field with a stranger in the middle.

"Our new pastor!" exploded half a dozen girls, as they clambered into the nuts.

"Who-o-o?" gasped Rose, with a surprised stare, "well, he's just copping the game for us, anyway."

When it was finished, the home boys, cheering lustily, bore down upon the pitcher, lifted him to their young shoulders and carried him off the field.

"And we'll all meet you at the church tomorrow!" sang out one boy, after the noise had partially subsided, and all had shaken hands with Rev. Horace Benton.

Often, thereafter, the pastor was seen at the games in Rose's car, for a reverend, especially a very young reverend, is not likely to own a car himself.

One morning at the end of that perfect summer, Rose danced into the kitchen. She wore a house dress, which should have been warning enough to her mother.

"Aren't you going to work this morning, Rose?" asked that unsuspecting lady.

"Yes, mother," announced Rose, "I am going to work, right here. I want to learn to cook! And I'll have good luck, too!"

After all, women are not simple like sentences—they are all complex—so hard to analyze. When her daughter had danced happily out of the room, Mrs. Warren dropped heavily into a chair, covered her face with the corner of her apron—and cried.

SCORES GERMANS HARD LUCK STORY

O. S. U. President Upholds Action Of France in Seizing The Ruhr.

Columbus, Jan. 26.—"Germany's plea that she is not in a position to pay is a trumped-up excuse," declared Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Ohio State University, upholding the action of France in seizing the Ruhr valley.

"We are in no position to know how Germany stands financially, but it is evident that France suffered as much as Germany and yet she had paid ten times more reparations since the armistice than has Germany," continued President Thompson.

According to the Versailles treaty Germany agreed to pay certain sums of money to France for reparation. Since it was not paid France's move in taking over German territory and endeavoring to extract the revenues from German coal mines is absolutely legal.

"It is the same as the method of enforcing payment of taxes in this country. If a farmer in the United States will not pay taxes on his farm, the government might be said to 'invade' that farm. Fundamentally, the issue is the same as in the European situation," declared President Thompson.

A Magic Loan Office.

The village of Churt, on the Hampshire border, near Surrey, England, where Mr. Lloyd George has recently built his new home, is the scene of a quaint legend. The name of the village means a rough common overrun with gorse, broom, and bracken, and on the common are three curious conical sandhills called "The Devil's Jumps." The legend ran that if one of the inhabitants knocked on a great stone on one of these hills and asked for the loan of any utensil, he would be sure to find the thing he asked for waiting for him on reaching home. But it was a necessary condition of the loan that he must return whatever he had borrowed. One day a neglectful inhabitant borrowed a large kettle and did not return it, whereupon the supernatural loan office ceased to function. In Frensham church, two miles away from Churt, the "identical" copper kettle is exhibited.

Blackheaded Pimples Quit With S.S.S.

Why? Pimple-Poison Goes When Red-Blood-Cells Increase! S. S. S. Builds These Red-Blood-Cells.

You can be sure of this, nature has no substitute for red-blood-cells. Pimple-poison can live in the red-cells of your blood as long as there are enough rich red-blood-cells in it. More red-blood-cells.

The shame of a blemished face!

That is what you need when you see pimples staring at you in the mirror. Black-headed pimples are worse! Eczema is worse yet; it is like trying to live under the sun; you'll find only an increase, more evil-power in your blood! The tremendous results, produced by an increase in red-blood-cells is one of the A. B. C.'s of medical science. Red-cells mean clear pure rich blood. They mean clarity, health, complexion. They mean never having to wash your nerves freed by your blood. They mean freedom forever from pimples from the blackhead pest from boils, from eczema and skin eruptions, from rheumatism, impurities, from tired, exhausted, run-down feeling. Red-blood-cells are the most important factor in the body to touch us. S. S. S. will build them for you. S. S. TAKE THEIR PLEASURE NOW

Young Chicago Couple Evidently Believes in Verse, "Gather Ye Roses While Ye May."

The Woman knows a couple who're just gone abroad. The husband is a young writer who earns a very moderate income and the wife is an artist who receives small returns.

"We're just going to enjoy ourselves for six weeks or two months," they told the Woman. "You see we had a little saved up and we were going to struggle to save more by great economy and self-denial. And then we talked to one of our neighbors. He used to be as poor as we are—once. And by stinting and scraping and wise investment he is a well-to-do man now.

"We asked him why he didn't travel and he said he had always meant to and, yet, while he was young, he felt he should be saving for the future. And now that he has saved—it was saved with such self-denial that he just can't go out and spend it. He took a little trip this summer, but came back in a week—he couldn't bear to see the money which had been accumulated by small amounts go out in big ones."

"So we made up our minds that we'd travel when we could enjoy it, and not wait for the days when our enthusiasm and our nerve at money-spending would be gone,"—Chicago Journal.

MANUFACTURERS AND FARMERS
URGE LESS RESTRICTION OF IMMIGRATION.

SHORTAGE OF WORKERS CITED

Organized Labor and American Legion
Are Opposed to This Proposition, but Congress May Be Persuaded to Accept It.

Washington.—A committee appointed by the National Manufacturers' association has been pleading with the members of the house committee on immigration to modify the present immigration restriction law. It is claimed in Washington that the farmers generally are sympathetic with the manufacturers in their desire to push the gate open a ways.

A month ago it was predicted that a strong effort would be made to let more immigrants into this country, men of the hard manual labor type. It also was predicted that American labor organizations would oppose strongly any changes in the present law unless the changes were in the direction of strengthening the exclusion measure. Labor today is opposed to the attempt of the manufacturers to change the law. There would be no chance at all that congress would listen to the pleas of the members of the committee who are here today were it not that the farmers are said to be with the manufacturers.

It is said that many of the so-called conservatives and semi-conservatives find themselves today sympathetic with the agricultural bloc in this one movement. The great industries have been calling for more laborers and the conservatives and the semi-conservatives never have been indifferent to such pleadings.

Labor Not Alone in Opposition.

There will be a fight and a worthy one before the present immigration law is changed. Labor is not the only organization in the United States that is opposed to letting down the bars. The American Legion is on record as favoring a total exclusion of immigrants for a period of years. The Legion will fight the proposed change in the law. Moreover, there are stories to the effect that certain other organizations in the United States, powerful numerically and which have given no striking exhibition of a desire to welcome to these shores any more Europeans, will use their influence with senators and representatives to prevent any yielding to the plea of the representatives of the industrial and farm bodies.

Here is what the committee of the National Manufacturers' association desires shall be done:

"1. That in fixing the quota of each nationality of otherwise admissible aliens under the present law due regard should be given to the ascertained annual emigration from the United States of persons of such nationality.

"2. That the secretary of labor shall be authorized, upon the presentation to him of satisfactory evidence of a continuing shortage of labor of a particular type or class, to admit otherwise admissible aliens in excess of the quota, until in his judgment such condition is improved.

"3. That provision shall be made for physical examination of aliens at ports of embarkation, or where their passports are vised, except that such requirement shall be waived upon assurances of another government that such satisfactory examination has been made."

Further Relaxation Feared.

Virtually every official in Washington was convinced weeks ago that before the present session of congress should end immigration again would become a subject of controversy. It is true that the present movement for a weakening of the exclusion act contemplates the admission of comparatively few additional foreigners, but the records show that when one wedge is entered it is an easy matter to enter others.

Of course the desire of the manufacturers and farmers is to secure labor of a certain type or class. A farmer wants a farm laborer and a manufacturer wants a manufacturing laborer, and it is asked that legislation be so framed that they will get what they want. The history of the past, however, has shown that immigrants who worked on the farms in Europe will not always work on the farms in the United States. They get to New York and there they stay, unless something draws them to Chicago or Philadelphia or Baltimore, and neither of these cities has any large number of farms within its municipal limits.

There will be a fight in Washington over this immigration matter. It would seem, however, that unless labor, plus several other organizations, has more influence than it is generally accredited with, the bars will be let down.

EX-HIGHS DOWNED BY CLOSE MARGIN; BOOK GAME HERE

A basketball team composed mostly of ex-High school players went to Beloit Wednesday night and stacked up against a Sebring-Beloit team composed of Shaffer Barber football players and others from the vicinity of Sebring. The Salem boys put up a snappy fight but lost by the score of 19-17.

The Salem team is composed of Morris, William Rich, Wallace Huston, Bob Wilson, Chick Roessler, Allen and Saunders. Salem used seven players, Morris and Huston forwards, Wilson center, Rich and Roessler guards. In the second half Huston was shifted to the pivot position and Allen took his position at forward. Saunders took Roessler's place at guard.

Arrangements for a return game at Salem are being made. Kelley, former High school star, will be in the lineup at that time. There will be a preliminary game between the Salem ex-high girls and the Sebring girls.

A paper will be circulated to sell tickets for this game. This is being done to assure the necessary money to rent the High school gym.

Stoat Family in Hard Luck.

There is a family of ten young pheasants which enjoyed a miraculous escape from death while yet in their shells. One morning an English gamekeeper came face to face with a stoat bearing one of the eggs; she paid the penalty, and it was then found that all the eggs were missing. He suspended the dead robber in a hedge and set a trap below, in which her mate was taken. Their nest was found near by and among the baby stoats were the missing eggs. A massacre of innocents followed—innocents they were, since not an egg had been touched. The keeper bore the eggs home in his shirt to a broody fowl, who duly hatched the young birds.

DOGS POPULAR IN LONDON

Women Particularly Seem to Have Taken Them Into Favor—in Demand in France.

Londoners are very fond of dogs, and more than half the women one meets on the street have them on leash, or running loose. I was discussing this phase of London life with a London policeman when a lady passed with a little dog, of a type and breed that were entirely strange to me.

"What kind of a dog is that?" I asked him.

He turned from motioning a fast-speeding motorist to slow down. "That," he replied. "Oh, there are only two kinds of dogs in London—the quick and the dead."

A part of fashionable Hyde Park is set aside for a "dog cemetery," and the headstones and epitaphs show the affectionate regard in which many people hold their dog friends.

Good dogs are very scarce in France and command a high price. This is due to the fact that for several reasons dogs were very generally destroyed during the war.—People's Gas Club News.

SUBSIDY IS BEING TALKED TO DEATH JAPANESE NAVAL PROGRAM ALARMS AMERICAN CHIEFS

REPUBLICANS CALL PROCEDURE FILIBUSTER WHILE THE DEMOCRATS DENY IT.

MEASURE SELDOM MENTIONED

Whenever It Is Called Up for Discussion, Speeches Begin on Almost Every Other Subject That Can Be Imagined.

Washington.—The Republicans say it is a filibuster, the Democrats say it is not. The Republicans and Democrats so saying pro and con are senators of the United States, while the subject of the filibuster charge and denial is the administration's ship subsidy bill.

Call it a filibuster or not as you will, the fact remains that for good or for bad the ship subsidy measure is making little or no progress in the senate, where it holds a first place as unfinished business. Ship subsidy is called up for discussion with a view to passage, and then all at once the listener may hear speeches on pretty near everything that is new and old under the sun except of course ship subsidy.

One might get an idea after an hour or two in the senate that certain gentlemen do not care to have a ship subsidy bill passed. This would be an absolutely correct impression. There are some gentlemen in the senate who do not want to see the ship subsidy bill passed, and today it looks as if the vision of its passing will not appear before the eyes of the members of the present congress, and the eyes of those Americans at a distance who care to turn their looks in the direction of Washington.

When some Republican senator to whom the ship subsidy bill is a rather precious thing asks some Democratic senator pointblank if his discursive talking is not intended as a filibuster against the measure, the Democratic senator, no matter from what state he hails, puts his reply in the New England form of another question.

How Opponents Reply.

He is likely to ask something like this: "Is it possible that the able and distinguished senator from —— cannot understand the immense importance of the matter which I am now in my confessedly inadequate way trying to treat? I hold that the matter of the personnel of the Republican steering committee of the senate is one of overpowering interest to the constituents of each and every one of us. Are we to have our attention diverted from so all-absorbing a topic as that of whether the honorable senator from —— shall hold such membership to the exclusion of the honorable senator from —— because of the alleged necessity of confining ourselves to the consideration of some light and airy trifles which seems to have appealed to the imagination of certain and sundry gentlemen on the other side of this chamber?"

Once in a white ship subsidy is mentioned specifically by name, but always the mention comes from one of its supporters. The senatorial opponents of the measure, Democratic or Republican, are as shy as maidens of giving either name or direct verbal attention to the matter which, with all the evasion that is evident, still is the one thing to which they are supposed to direct their attention and later to give their votes for or against.

Senate Accustomed to It.

All this sort of thing has happened time and again in the United States senate. All that it is necessary to do is to substitute the name of some measure of the past for that of the ship subsidy measure of the present. In the days of an attempt to delay the passage of a certain great financial measure, the price of pork on the hoof and in the form of chops in the market was discussed for several hours. This had as much to do with the bill under consideration as the laws of Lycurgus have to do with the Volstead act, but the pig in its sty and its substance as hams, chops and short-ribs had their hour or hours if not their day.

Again there is talk in the United States senate of revising the rules so that there can be some method of bringing a bill to a vote when the majority desires it shall be put to a vote. For the fortieth time let it be said that attempts of this kind have been made many times prior to this date, and invariably have failed.

Today the opponents of the ship subsidy bill want to talk it to death; next year the opponents of some other bill will want to talk it to death, and it may be that the men who now are trying to stop the talk will be the men who next year will try to keep the tongues running. In one session one group of senators desire strongly that a rule shall be enacted to stop debate, while in the next session the same gentlemen may be strongly opposed to any rule which shall deprive them of their senatorial right to talk on this, that or the other thing, to the ignoring of the main subject matter, wearied of their own vocal efforts, they can turn the talking job over to some one who has had a chance to rest awhile.

Operated by a gasoline motor, a portable belt conveyor has been invented that loads coal dumped from a rail road car upon its track into trucks or wagons.

JAPANESE NAVAL PROGRAM ALARMS AMERICAN CHIEFS

Washington, Jan. 26.—Japan, strictly within the bounds of the naval treaty signed at the Washington conference a year ago, Japan is engaged in building up her Navy to a point where unless the United States keeps pace, the 5-5-3 ratio of naval strength will be virtually nullified in a few years and Japan will have the most modern and efficient fighting force extant.

This, it was learned today, is the reason underlying President Coolidge's request to congress for additional funds to "modernize" the American fleet, which congress now has under consideration. It also accounts for the recent request to President Harding to call another arms conference to restrict aircraft and auxiliary naval vessels on the ground that "competition is on again."

Japan is keeping to the letter of the Washington treaty, building no capital ships, but her revised auxiliary building program is designed to convert her navy from a "defensive" establishment to an "offensive" establishment within a few years through the addition of swift cruisers, tankers and sea-going submarines, according to figures received from Tokio in naval circles here.

While actually reducing the number of cruisers, destroyers and submarines contemplated in the famous "8 and 8" program, the new program provides vessels that in every instance are larger, more powerful and have a greater cruising radius than those they substituted for. This will give Japan a force of auxiliary ships ideal for long distance work and capable of operating with the battle fleet far from home waters.

Picture Brides From Japan Offer Menace In Hawaii

Washington, Jan. 26.—Continued the sooner we wake up to a fuller appreciation of "picture brides" in preparation to this imperative and immediate need, the sooner we will make the people of the Hawaiian Islands feel generally a greater sense of security and control of all that concerns to make continued living in the territory of Hawaii worth while.

LISBON LEGION TO CONDUCT CAMPAIGN

John Welch post, American Legion has designated the week of Feb. 5-12 as "American Legion Week," and during that week a membership committee will make every effort to affiliate every ex-service man in Lisbon and vicinity with the Legion.

This membership campaign was decided upon at the last meeting of the American Legion and a committee was appointed to direct a "Clean-up" membership campaign.

On the evening of Feb. 12 it is planned by John Welch post to hold a big party and reception for the auxiliary of the American Legion and all former ex-service men. This party will be held in Knights of Pythias hall, and will complete the week's program for increased membership.

Cinema Girls Revue Is Greeted By Large Crowd At The Grand

A large crowd was at the opening performance last night at the Grand theater where Bob Finlay the famous screen comedian, is appearing in person with the Cinema Girls Revue.

Bob Finlay proved as funny on the stage as he was on the screen and his dry humor and funny dancing won him a host of friends, as did

Miss Dorothy Bush, the Fox Sunshine Comedy girl, who scored a hit with bicycle anywhere near the city of Constantinople.

Another member of the company deserving special mention is Alfonso Florentine, the premier dancer. Miss Florentine is a protege of Pavlova and known in pictures as a charming dancer who "doubles" for the motion picture stars who cannot dance, whenever their role may call for a graceful dancer.

The balance of the company includes nine studio girls who sing, dance and look pretty.

The company will close their engagement at the Grand tonight.

THE RED EAR

By CLARISSA MACKIE

(C) 1923, by McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

"If you go to the husking bee, Ruth, you must let me go with you," declared Ruth's aunt. "I don't approve of your running around to parties with strange young men."

"Of course it would be lovely if you could go, Aunt Dell," said Ruth sincerely, "but do remember, please, that Hal is not a strange young man, but a playmate and a schoolmate—I have known him all my days."

"Yes—but I would rather you went with me," declared sedate Miss Henderson, patting her smooth hands of gray hair with small white fingers. "You know, my dear, that we Hendersons have never been accustomed to attending all the village entertainments, and it is only lately that I have allowed you to mingle with them."

"And I have had the happiest time in all my life, auntie," smiled Ruth wistfully. "You have been so good to me since father and mother were killed—I am so grateful and I want to please you."

"You do, dear, in everything—except perhaps, your penchant for Hal—I confess that I am a bit prejudiced there. I know Hal is a rising young doctor and bound to succeed to his father's splendid practice here! nevertheless, I have always felt an antipathy for him ever since he was a small boy and broke some of my choicest plants and shrubs one day when he was stealing cherries. I caught him in the tree and ordered him down. He came, defiant and angry—as soon as he reached the ground he poured out the cherries on the grass at my feet and ran away. I ran after him—I had a small switch in my hand—but I stumbled and fell, breaking my arm—he had the grace to come and humbly apologize. But—it would keenly disappoint me if you married Hal Denton."

"He has never asked me, Aunt Dell," assured Ruth, her cheeks quite pink.

Miss Dell turned her eyes away; she could not bear to see that hurt look in her darling's eyes, yet her own pride and long-cherished dislike of Hal Denton sealed her lips.

The party was given in Cyrus Planta's enormous barn. It was to be an old-time husking bee, a barn dance with a hearty supper served afterward on the lawn. All the folks in the village were invited—the ministers had read out the invitations in the churches, a small sum was charged for admission and the proceeds were to go to the wounded soldiers. Miss Henderson and her pretty niece were among the late arrivals and the husking was in full swing as they found the way to seats among the sweet-smelling heaps of corn. Every one knew about the red ear of corn—whenever one was found the lucky finder had the privilege of claiming a kiss from some one else—that was the twentieth century version of the old custom! Miss Henderson had considered the possibility of the red ear falling to her lot, and she had decided to bestow a kiss upon young Bobby Carew, her cousin's youngest child. As for Ruth—she simply dared not think of what would happen if her niece found the red ear—she hoped Ruth would think of Bobby Carew as a safe escape from an embarrassing situation.

The fun was at its height when a roar of laughter from the others revealed the fact that Doctor Hal had uncovered a red ear of corn. He stood there blushing furiously, his handsome face smiling in embarrassment. He hesitated but a moment, recovered his composure and advanced toward the corner where Miss Henderson sat with Ruth.

All of them knew that Hal was in love with Ruth, and most of them were quite sure that Miss Henderson would frown upon the match; some of them had heard that Hal was disliked by the aunt, and that a boyish caper would no doubt cost him his life's happiness. Hal knew it, too, and fought desperately to atone for his childish misdemeanor. With a swift glance at Ruth he passed her and dropped gracefully upon one knee before Miss Dell Henderson, holding out the red ear in its nest of creamy husks.

"A small boy humbly apologizes for stealing your cherries, Miss Dell—and a man apologizes for the small boy!" he smiled whimsically at her, and laying the red ear in her lap picked up her small unresisting hand and kissed it reverently.

Miss Dell arose tremblingly to her feet and turned as if to flee—she saw Ruth's frightened face, the horrified glances of those who knew her as the unapproachable Dell Henderson and she saw the innate honesty and manhood in Hal Denton's face.

Her stern face broke up into a tremulous smile, and tears were in her voice when she spoke. "A foolish old woman is sorry for acting so mean and petty!" Hal—and if a kiss goes with the red ear you may give it to me!" She lifted her face and he bent and kissed her cheek, his glad eyes meeting Ruth's—then, the orchestra burst into "Money Musk" and Doctor Hal swung Miss Dell into the group forming for the dance.

As for Ruth she danced it with little Bobby Carew, but it was the happiest dance of her life. Afterward, of course, Hal took a kiss from her, but the red ear had nothing to do with it, for it sealed their betrothal.

CRIMINAL CASES
SET FOR HEARING

A criminal assignment has been arranged for disposal in court room No. 1, over which Judge J. G. Moore died by Mrs. Zeppernick at her home. The "Home Sanitarium" was that of a medicine which has been pronounced incurable by her family claimed.

Judge D. H. Craven, who has been occupying the bench in court room No. 2 will remain for a session next week and the first case assigned to him is that of Mrs. Zeppernick. Within six weeks the cancer had been removed and the work of healing nearly completed, she claims. The case, one pronounced malignant, or used for external cancers only, Mrs. Zeppernick states, adding that she has been visited by a number of physicians and surgeons, some of whom are said to have endorsed the method of treatment.

While at present the treatment is used for external cancers only, Mrs. Zeppernick declares that it is her hope to be enabled to continue in perfecting the cure until she has developed a remedy for internal cancers also.

New discoveries have been made from time to time that have aided her considerably in perfecting the present method, according to Mrs. Zeppernick. It is her plan now to continue in perfecting the method until she can enlist the aid of the medical profession in giving the results of her experiments to the thousands of sufferers throughout the world.

The second treatment is used to cause it to drop out. This is said to be of benefit to bring roots and all dead tissue to the medical profession in its work of curing cancer.

After the growth has been entirely removed, the third treatment consists of a healing ointment which is applied to the skin.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of physicians recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two its natural color is restored, and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Also Comedy, "Pitter Patter," Movie Chats and Sea Elephants.

"Nice People"

Featuring Wallace Reid, Bebe Daniels, Conrad Nagel and Julia Faye.

You need not be worried, for "Nice People" is not a prosaic picture about nice respectable people, but a stirring depiction of the reckless lives of the rich young folk of today, those who believe that anything they do is right because they are "Nice People."

Also Comedy, "Pitter Patter," Movie Chats and Sea Elephants.

clarred that they had heard of her wonderful success in treating such cases.

No Medical Education

Within the past year Mrs. Zeppernick has been forced to turn away numerous patients because of the lack of facilities for handling cases. She is alone in her work and her cases demand a great part of her time.

Mr. Zeppernick, a middle aged woman with a pleasing personality, has had no medical education. Due to illness in her family she was forced to discontinue her studies in public and private schools after finishing the eighth grade.

The question of finances is holding back chances for further development in the work, Mrs. Zeppernick declares, adding that she hopes to loosen the growth from the live flesh point where it will be of benefit to bring roots and all dead tissue to the medical profession in its work of curing cancer.
